

The first part of Good Vibrations, called Zoom Out, explores the relationships between Lot E8, designed by two teams of architects—Gausa-Raveau actarchitecture & Avenier-Cornejo Architectes—and its environment, the 17th arrondissement in Paris, known as Clichy-Batignolles, one of the biggest and most ambitious recent urban development projects in Paris. Part two shows a Zoom In, focusing on the correlated parts of the building designed by the two teams of architects.
